Weekly Report 1

We met with our advisor Dr. Trajcevski and he thought we should focus on a few things: narrowing the scope of our project and researching projects of similar nature to see what we wanted similar or different in our project. We have also been researching neural networks and Akaash has begun implementing a few test A.I.s.

As far as actual development of the project, we have begun building the android application and have implemented the login/registration process, facebook authentication as well as the beginning of the event page and users location tracking/activity tracking.
